SCOTTISH SELF-GOVERNMENT

CONFERENCE IN GLASGOW

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO DRAFT POLICY

The subject of self-government for Scotland was considered at a private conference held in Glasgow under the Chairmanship of the Duke of Montrose.

A resolution was passed expressing the view that the good government and industrial and social welfare of Scotland demand the setting up of a Parliament in Scotland while maintaining unimpaired the country's loyalty to Crown and Empire.

Separation from England, it was declared, could not fail to be otherwise than prejudicial to national interests and commerce.

A committee was appointed to draft a policy embodying a scheme of self-government for Scotland based on the principles set forth in this resolution, and to report to a further meeting.

NO SEPARATION FROM ENGLAND

The question of setting up a Parliament for Scotland has recently given rise to controversy in various quarters, and on that account a conference held in St. Enoch Station Hotel, Glasgow, aroused considerable interest. It was called by the Duke of Montrose, Sir Alexander M. MacEwen, Inverness, and Mr. J. Kevan McDowell, Glasgow, and in the preliminary circular sent out was described as "a private informal conference" for the purpose of considering what measure of agreement was to be found among the advocates of self-government for Scotland, and what steps should be taken in furtherance of that object. The invitation to be present was addressed to those who were understood to be in sympathy with the idea, but it was indicated that their attendance would not commit them to any definite line of policy.

A company numbering 74 responded to the invitation, and the two resolutions passed in support of the setting up of a Scottish Parliament were, according to the official report, agreed to unanimously. Only one alteration was made in the resolutions as originally submitted. In one of these the setting up a responsible Parliament "in Edinburgh" was proposed, but on the suggestion of a member of the conference the phrase "in Scotland" was substituted.

Control of Purely Scottish Affairs.

In this resolution emphasis was laid on the increasing burdens laid upon the Parliament at Westminster, with consequent congestion of business, and it was urged that the good government of Scotland and its industrial and social welfare rendered necessary the setting up of a Parliament with full control of all purely Scottish affairs. Reference was made to the desirability of maintaining unimpaired Scotland's loyalty to Crown and Empire, while it was also stated that separation from England could not fail to be otherwise than prejudicial to national interests and commerce, and must therefore be opposed. A committee appointed to prepare a policy on the lines laid down in the main resolution will report to a future meeting, the date of which has, however, not yet been fixed.

The Duke of Montrose presided, and the proceedings lasted about two hours. To the newspaper representatives at the close His Grace stated that it had been "a very good conference"—quite beyond the expectations of those by whom it had been convened.

Official Report.

Duke of Montrose explained the object of the meeting, and stated that in every policy, if there was to be any vitality, there must be some ideal or good to work for. In his view there was only one real reason for self-government, and that was the better government of Scotland and the social advancement of the people.

"We do not," he added, "suffer from tyranny, religious persecution, slavery or chains of bondage, and our claim is based down to the fact that our only reason for self-government is that we believe, with a Parliament of our own in Scotland, we could and would manage our own affairs better than they are being managed to-day, from Westminster."

"By relieving Westminster of purely Scottish questions we would strengthen its hands to deal with the vital, important, and difficult Imperial and foreign questions with which it is faced to-day."

Policy on Moderate Lines.

The Duke went on to say that fully 90 per cent of Scottish laws differed from those in England, and it really could not matter to anyone in England or in the Empire how Scottish people dealt with those questions peculiar to themselves. He thought that self-government, putting aside all ideas of separation from England, was fully worthy of serious consideration, and that all reasonable men would be satisfied with a policy based on moderate lines.

Loyalty to Crown and Empire.

Sir Alexander M. MacEwen moved the following resolution:—

"That it is agreed that, in view of the ever-increasing burdens laid upon Parliament at Westminster with the consequent congestion of business, the good government and industrial and social welfare of Scotland demand the setting up of a responsible Parliament in Scotland with full control of all purely Scottish affairs. That it is desired to maintain unimpaired Scotland's loyalty to the Crown and Empire. It is further agreed that separation from England could not fail to be otherwise than prejudicial to national interests and commerce, and must therefore be opposed."

Sir Alexander stated that there were three schools of thought among those in favour of self-government—(1) the evolutionist; (2) the home rule; and (3) the Scottish Nationalist. It was not the time to go into details, but he believed that what the people of Scotland wanted was complete control of their own internal affairs while maintaining unimpaired Scotland's share in the joint work of international and Imperial concerns. What was needed to-day was a synthesis between nationalism and internationalism. The sovereignty and influence of the Scottish nation would be weakened, not strengthened, by separation from England. He regarded the idea of a national convention and constituent assembly as utterly impracticable.

Pressure on the Government.

What was needed was that all advocates of self-government should join together to bring pressure on Scottish members of Parliament to ask the present National Government to introduce a Self-Government Bill, which would meet the views of practical business men and at the same time maintain the dignity and status of the Scottish people.

The resolution was seconded by Mr. J. Kevan McDowell, who said he hoped that as a result of the conference a definite moderate policy of self-government for Scotland would be formulated, and that thereafter this policy would be submitted to each of the parties in Scotland—viz., Conservative, Liberal, Labour, and National. They should be invited to accept this policy, or, if not, to state what objections, if any, they took to it. It was possible that any such objections might be adjusted, and Scotsmen as a whole could present a united demand to the British Empire.

The following spoke in support of this resolution: Lord Dalziel of Kirkcaldy, Mr. A. Dewar Gibb, Mr. W. Ninian Stewart, ex-Provost of Glasgow, Paisley, and Mr. F. J. Robertson, Edinburgh.

The resolution was unanimously carried.

Scheme to be Prepared.

The following further resolution was proposed by Sir Henry Keith, and was seconded by Sir Daniel M. Stevenson, Bt.:

"It is further resolved to appoint a committee, with power to add to their number, to frame a policy when will embody a scheme of self-government for Scotland based on the principles set forth in the first resolution; and that a report of the committee be submitted to a further meeting of those present who are hereby constituted a provisional committee, with power to add to their number."

The resolution was unanimously adopted, and the following were elected as a committee:—The Duke of Montrose, Sir Alexander M. MacLennan, Sir Henry Keith, Mr. J. Kevan McDowell, Sheriff M'Phail, Mr. A. Dewar Gibb, Sir William E. Whyte, Mr. W. F. Bosworth, Mr. John Ritchie, and Mr. J. F. Stewart.

Votes of thanks were moved by Sir Hugh S. Robertson, who remarked that members of all political parties were present at the conference.

BRITISH FILM ENDEAVOUR

LONDON, October 3.

British Instructional Films announced to-day that they are concerned with two pictures in collaboration with the British Broadcasting Co. and Imperial Airways, respectively. The B.B.C. film, made by Mary Fields, is a "short" dealing with the question of standardised speech. The other film, called "Contact," is a dramatic survey of the growing network of air routes which, in opening up the Empire, is helping to establish contact between great but widely separated populations. The trans-African and trans-Asiatic air routes will be covered from end to end, the African journey being made in the delivery flight of the new Avianta monoplanes, which are the most modern type of air liner. The film unit will travel a distance of over twenty thousand miles, and the resulting picture, it is hoped, will bring three continents into review. The unit will leave for Africa and India at the beginning of November and will be led by Paul Rotha, the director.

Workers of the San Yue Towel Factory, Yungchueing, who went on hunger strike recently as a protest against the closing of their factory, have submitted a petition to the Chinese authorities, asking them to bring pressure to bear upon the factory management so that the mill may be open as soon as possible. The dispute between the management and workers of the San Yue Factory was recently referred to an arbitration committee which decided that the factory should re-open in order to give work to the unemployed, but this decision was opposed by the management which declared its intention of bringing the matter before the Nantao District Court.

THE MORTALITY OF SEAMEN

INVESTIGATION BY SCHOOL OF HYGIENE

DISPROVING OLD BELIEFS

The London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine has made an investigation into mortality in the British mercantile marine, on behalf of the Board of Trade. The results are contained in a report by Major P. Granville Edge, of the statistical department of the school, published by the Stationery Office (price 1s. 6d.).

The report is based on the mortality of a single year—the 12 months ended September 30, 1930—and the figures analysed relate to British merchant seamen who died at sea or on shore. Major Edge states that the period reviewed is statistically too short for final comparisons to be drawn between the health of the mercantile marine and that of workers in other occupations.

But his conclusions suggest that service in the mercantile marine is no more inimical to life and health than are many of the occupations ashore frequently regarded as unhealthy; in many instances, indeed, the advantage distinctly lies with the seaman. Major Edge observes, however, that deaths due to drowning and injury among British seamen account for 31.93 and 16.97 per cent. respectively of the total deaths due to all causes; in other words, in the aggregate these causes are fatal to more merchant seamen than are all diseases enumerated. No great shipping disasters were recorded in the year.

Causes of Drownings.

A table is given which, in Major Edge's words, "appears to unmask the principal causes of all drownings at sea." It continues:—"Twice as many men needlessly lost their lives—and here it will be observed firemen stewards, and sailors are the principal offenders—because of thoughtless indulgence in intoxicating liquors, as do men who, in an unfortunate moment, are swept overboard in heavy weather. The missing in the aggregate amount to 38 deaths, an undue share of the total deaths due to drowning. The majority of these cases merely disappeared—no evidence of suicidal intent being forthcoming; it is curious to find that firemen and stewards figure in this list so conspicuously. Even where the greatest precautionary measures are taken, accidents while working the ship will occur from time to time, but, on the other hand, the majority of drowning accidents occurring whilst men are bathing, returning to or leaving the ship, &c., might be avoided."

Dealing with alcoholism, Major Edge, observes that traditional beliefs die hard. Sailors are generally regarded as a hard-drinking, intemperate body of men. The report shows that, all ages considered, mortality due to this cause in the mercantile marine differs little, if at all, from that among those engaged in shore occupations. "It can hardly be concluded, therefore," Major Edge writes, "that the sea-

EASY MONEY

BANK OF JAPAN WILL SELL TREASURY BILLS.

Tokyo, October 18.—The Bank of Japan is ready to sell treasury bills in its possession to banks and other parties who may care to buy. The Bank at present owns ¥10,000,000 worth; ¥50,000,000 in No. 8 issue, discounted at 8 1/2 rin, and ¥50,000,000 in No. 9 issue, discounted at 8 rin. It has another ¥50,000,000 issue for account of the Monopoly Bureau.

The new No. 11 treasury bills, ¥50,000,000 in all, have now been issued, half the amount underwritten by the Deposits Bureau and the remainder by the Bank of Japan. The latter half, underwritten by the Bank of Japan, has been wholly converted by holders of the No. 7 treasury bills which expired at the same time. The new discount rate is only 8 rin as against the old rate of 9 1/2 rin, and the above total conversion explains the extent of the easy money situation.

Man is particularly addicted to habits of intemperance, or that alcoholism is excessively frequent as a cause of death among these men. A high suicide rate is noted. Of the total deaths of seamen afloat, 4.8 per cent. are attributed to suicide, compared with 1.8 per cent. among all occupied and retired males. All ages considered, the proportionate mortality figure for seamen afloat is in excess of that relating to suicides in any shore occupation.

INTERNATIONAL MOTOR RACES

DATES FOR 1933

LONDON, October 1. The R.A.C. announces that the following dates have now been allotted for the principal motor races in 1933:—April 23, Monaco Grand Prix; June 25, Italian Grand Prix; May, Indianapolis 500; June 4, French Grand Prix; July 9, Belgian Grand Prix; July 23, German Grand Prix; September 2, Tourist Trophy Race, Great Britain; September 24, Spanish Grand Prix.

FIRST CREMATION IN ENGLAND

LONDON, October 8.

To-day is the 50th anniversary of the first cremation in modern England, when the ashes of Edith Mary, wife of Capt. Thomas B. Banham, R.N., to which her body had been reduced on the evening of October 8, 1882, were scattered to the wind by her son. This son inserted a notice in to-day's Times to the above effect. Records show that this cremation was carried out before the practice of cremation was legally permitted in England, and it was not until March 20, 1885, that the first cremation of a legitimate character took place.

HALLOWE'EN

Dear Kiddies,
What a funny "Children's Corner" we have to-day.—No! just Uncle hasn't gone crazy just his little way of reminding you that this is "Hallowe'en."

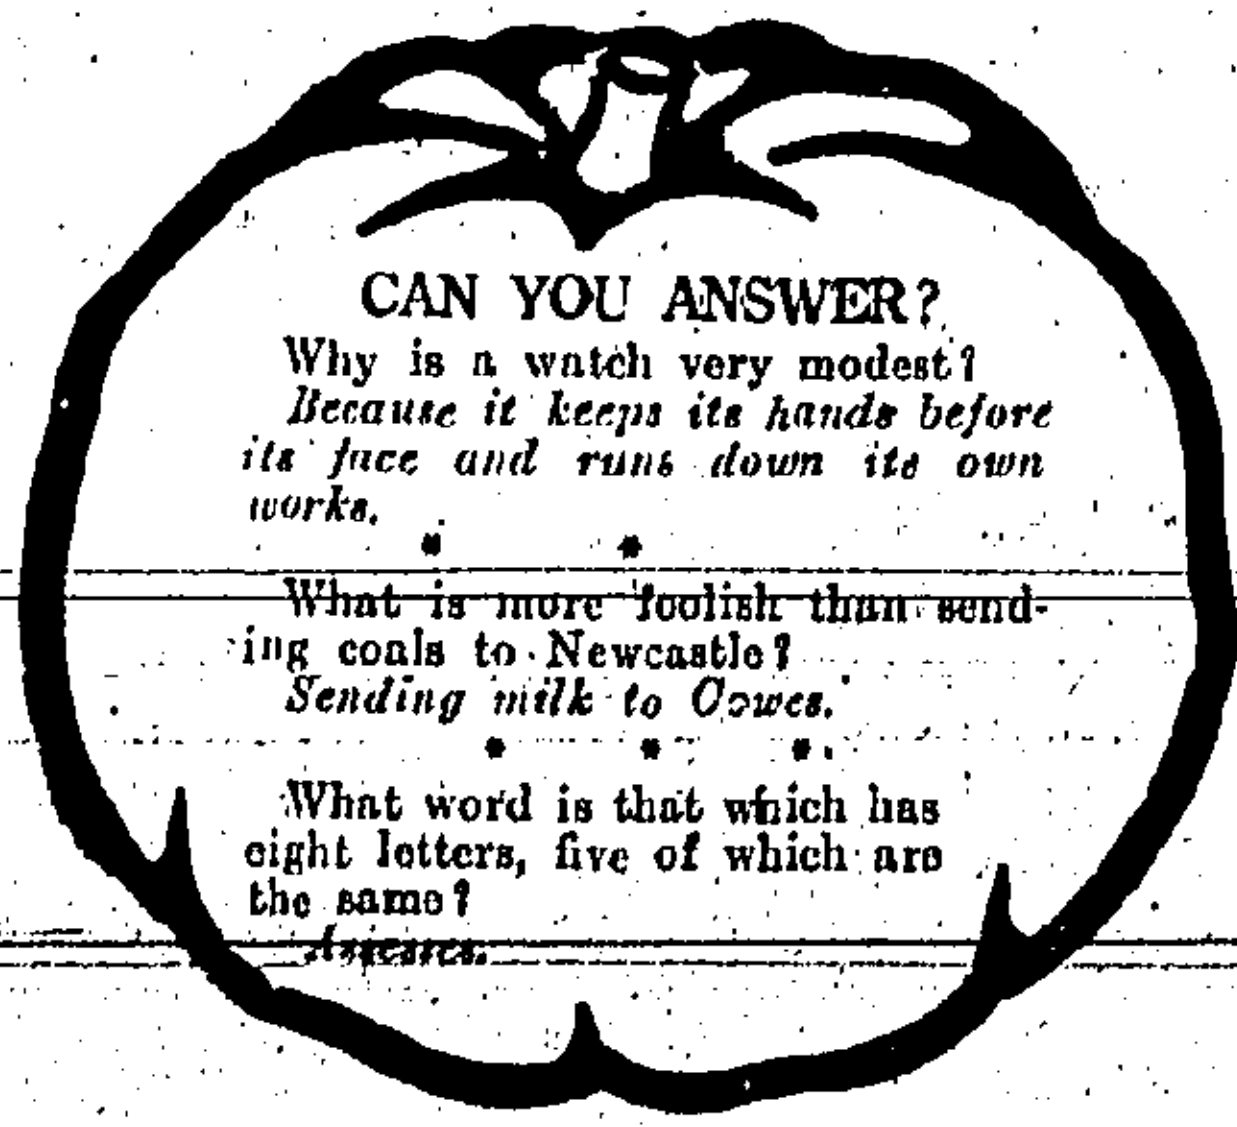

Hallowe'en or All Hallow's Eve, is the name given to the 31st of October as the vigil of Hallowmas or All Saints' Day. In olden times the people used to light bonfires, believing that on all nights in the year, this was the one, during which ghosts and witches were most likely to wander abroad. Further, it was a Druidic belief that on the eve of this festival, Saman, lord of death, called together the wicked souls. It is quite clear that the main celebrations of Hallowe'en were Druidical, and this is further proved by the fact that in parts of Ireland the October 31, is still known as Oidheche Shamhna, "Vigil of Saman." There was also an old Roman festival in honour of Pomona (held about November 1) in which nuts and apples played an important part, the latter representing the winter store of fruits.

Thus you boys and girls can well understand now, why both young and old, roast nuts by the fire, duck-for-apples, dress up in disguise like ghosts and witches, and lots more!

CHARADES

Charades is one of the best games I know for a Hallowe'en party. Of course I am sure you all know how to play this, but in case some of you have forgotten I will give you the rules:—

1. The company is divided into two sides.
2. The "acting" side go out of the room and decide on some word which will break into two or even three parts—each part being a word. (For Example—carpet—Car-Pet). They next enter and act three plays. The first time some actor introduces the first word (i.e. Car). In the second act, the second word is brought in (i.e. pet) and in the third act, the whole word is mentioned, i.e. Carpet. The duty of the other side is to guess the word chosen. Here are some words to help you play Charades:—Mantelpiece, Man-tell-piece, Castaway, Cast-away, Pilgrimage, Pil-grim-age, Kettledrum, Kettle-drum, Carpet, Car-pet, Witchcraft, Witch-craft.

Shot at Dawn.

A countryman, with a local reputation as a vocalist, attended a dinner, and was pressed to sing. Although he was as hoarse as a frog, he consented to try, but broke down.

"Never thee mind, lad," said an elderly guest, trying to cheer him up; "never mind the break-down, for thou's done thy best; but t' feller as asked thee to sing ought to be taken out an' shot!"

ST. JOSEPH'S SPRING A SURPRISE

UNDEFEATED LINCOLNS GOES UNDER: A. V. GOSANO
SCORES ONLY GOAL IN THRILLING MATCH

KOWLOON SCORE HEAVILY AGAINST RECREIO: BORDERERS
SECONDS NET TWELVE GOALS AGAINST CLUB

One of the surprises of the local soccer season occurred on Saturday when the strongly fancied Lincoln Regiment lost two valuable points by going under to St. Joseph's. The winners were assisted by the Interport "star" A. V. Gosano, who turned out for the first time this season and it was Gosano who, in the first half of the game, gave the College team the lead which they held until the final whistle was blown.

Heavy scoring seemed to be the order of the day, the biggest gap occurring in the second division match between the Borderers and the Club, the former piling up a dozen goals without conceding anything to their opponents. The Kowloon Football Club in the first division match triumphed over Recreio to the tune of 8 goals to 2, which South China beat Eastern in the second division by five clear goals. The Chinese Athletic's third team playing against the R.A.S.C. went down for the first time, the soldiers being victorious by six goals to two.

THRILLING GAME ON CHATHAM ROAD GROUND

The game between the hitherto unbeaten Lincoln Regiment and St. Joseph's proved to be the best game of the afternoon and there was a marked contrast between the two teams. The Saints forward line, strengthened by the inclusion of Gosano, proved to be a formidable factor in the game and this worried the Lincoln's defence considerably. The soldier's half backs had most of their time taken up in defensive work and whenever the Saints press, not only were the backs on their jobs but the halves also went right back to the defence. This state of affairs left the forwards without support, so that the Lincolns played practically five men in front and five behind with the goalkeeper between the posts. The Saints' defence was not very strong, but with the Lincolns forward line unsupported they were able to hold them down. In addition to this the gusty wind and the small ground told against the soldiers who were accustomed to long passes and to complete their misfortune, Marques, who kept goal for the winners, put up a wonderful show and excelled himself. The Collegians after getting the first goal had all their work cut out to try and maintain the lead and the Lincolns looked like equalising on several occasions in the second half, but met with no luck. Gosano and Sabban were the outstanding players for the winners while Barber and Higgins shone for the losers.

R.A. v. Club.

This game resulted in a three-nil victory for the Artillery and a very deserving win it was. The team pulled well together in the first half and honours were evenly divided up to a point. Both sides looked like scoring and both goalkeepers played well, but just before the interval the Artillery broke through and Bryant headed in the first goal for the soldiers.

In the second half, the Club started promisingly and a run down the Artillery's area looked as though it would result in a goal, but Strange shot over the bar. From this point the Artillery hemmed the Club team in their own area and although Rodgers put up a wonderful display he was not equal to the many shots that were rained on him and eventually Wood scored a second goal for the Artillery. The Club team then raised the hopes of their supporters by raiding the Artillery goal, but nothing came of it and when Wood scored a third goal for the winners, the Club team never had a look in again. The soldiers combined very well together and fully deserved their victory.

Kowloon v. Recreio.

Kowloon got their first league points on Saturday when, playing on their home ground they accounted for the Club de Recreio by eight goals to two. Recreio scored in the opening minute of the game but Kowloon, undaunted by this early reverse played well together and equalised very early on. They went on to take a four to one lead before the interval. Santos scored the first goal for the Recreio while the Kowloon goals came from McKelvie, Eastman, Melens and Webb in that order.

In the second half Recreio pulled themselves together, but weak shooting robbed them of many chances. Blake and Webb added further goals for Kowloon before Santos scored a second goal for Recreio but before the final whistle Melens and Webb added a goal each for the winners to make the final score 8-2. The winners while fully deserving their victory on the run of the play, did not put up the excellent exhibition that the score would suggest. At times play was distinctly behind the first division standard.

SECOND DIVISION

South China v. Eastern.

Playing with nine men, the Eastern team went under to South China at the Caroline Hill by five clear goals. In the first half, the winners were easily superior as with the advantage of two extra men on the field they had things very much their own way and netted three times. In the second half, Eastern managed to field an extra player and this had the effect of keeping down the scores, but towards the end the South China team resorted to long passes and this resulted in their obtaining two further goals before the final whistle. A very one-sided game.

Borderers v. Club.

A dozen goals which might easily have been doubled was the difference between the Borderers' second eleven and the Club. This game which was played on the Services ground at Happy Valley was all too one-sided to be interesting. Five goals were scored before the interval, the scorers being Mathias (2) Morris, Lakeman and Hamblin, while in the second half seven goals were added, the scorers being Morris (2), Lakeman, Reece, Wallace, Mathias and Hamblin.

Lincoln v. Athletic.

With their senior going under in a sensational manner, the Lincoln's second team almost went under to the Athletics. The soldiers had the misfortune to lose a man in the first few minutes of the game when Denkin had to be carried out of the field. There was no scoring in the first half, but in the second, the soldiers felt the effect of playing a man short and conceded a goal. It looked as though they would have to lose two valuable points, but just before the final whistle, McGuinness headed in the equaliser.

Taung Tsin v. Saints.

What looked like an easy game for St. Joseph's proved to be their downfall when the College team met Taung Tsin A.A. at Caroline Hill. The Collegians did not appear to take the game seriously until their opponents had scored a goal, but when they settled down to their work they found the Taung Tsin quite a hard nut to crack. The goal conceded by the College in the earlier part of the game proved to be the only goal scored in the match. The losers would have gone down by a bigger margin but for the splendid goalkeeping of Souza.

THIRD DIVISION

R.A.F. v. Signals.

Surprise was caused in the game between the R.A.F. and the Signals, when the latter scored their first win of the season at the expense of the Air Force.

The Airmen should have enjoyed the services of a number of their stalwarts from the "Hermes," but owing to the weather conditions, they were unable to play.

The Signals scored in the opening half through Jones. Continuing with a slight advantage the Signals went further ahead through Brown, who netted from close in, and finished up two goals to the good.

Service Corps v. Athletic.

At the Valley the first period of the game between the Athletic and the R.A.S.C. was very even, both teams attacking strongly. The Athletic were the first to open the scoring, but a penalty brought the equaliser for the Corps.

In the second half the Corps crammed on extra pressure and had the Chinese defence on the alert. Hay (3), Morgan and Gray added further goals for the Corps, while the Chinese replied through Ip Ying Poi through a misunderstanding in the Corps defence.

St. Joseph's v. Radio.

This game was uninteresting, through the players barracking the referee, who was appointed on the spot and was only doing his best, and also letting their tempers get the better of them. The Saints, however, managed to record a win, Santos and O. M. Omar netting for the Saints and Arculli for the Radio.

Lincoln v. Recreio.

The match between the Lincolns and the Recreio on the Chatham Road ground, was above the average.

The Lincolns were by far the better of the two teams, their experience telling over the dashing enthusiasm of the Portuguese players. Steele and McGuinness scored for the soldiers before the interval, while Clements and Dennis netted in the second half to bring the total to four.

Varsity v. Taikoo.

There was plenty of spirited play in the game between the University and Taikoo at the Valley. The Varsity should have won, but weak shooting and a greasy ball proved their handicap. Taikoo, on the other hand, played considerably better than they have done in their previous games, and a breakaway on the left enabled their winger Ng Chock Min to open the scoring, and they held their lead till half-time.

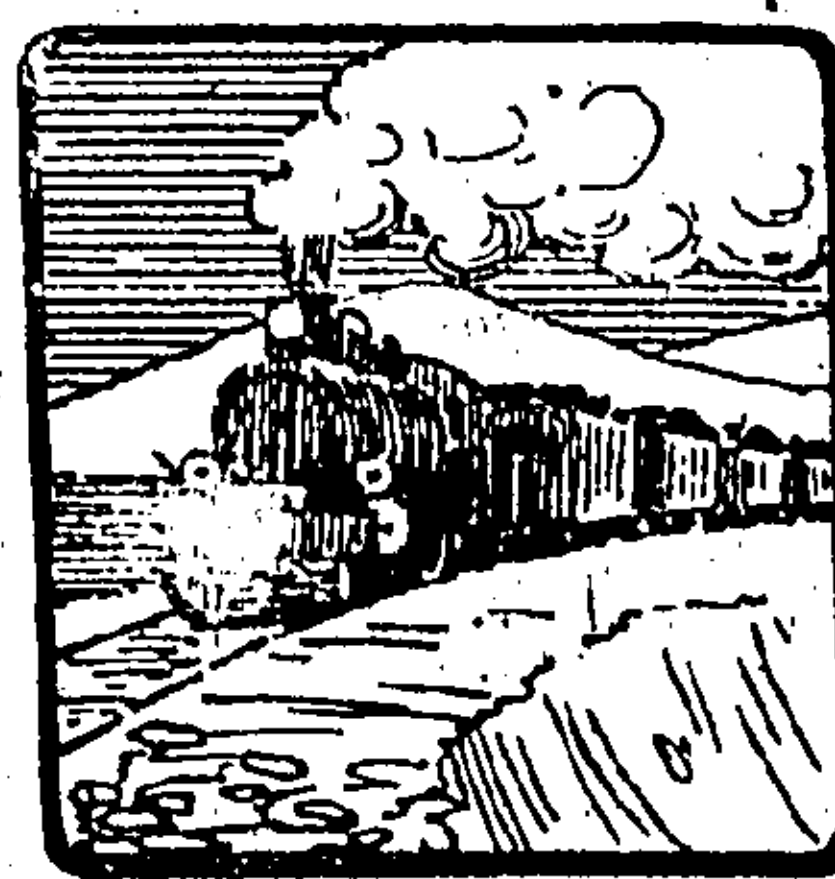

In the second half the Varsity combined better, and were on the offensive for a long time until the equaliser came along.

SCOTS' VICTORY OVER IRISH

DRAW INTER-LEAGUE GAME AT GLASGOW

BAD SHOOTING BY WINNERS

A crowd of 9,000 spectators at Ibrox Park saw a draw inter-League match, in which Scotland beat Ireland by four goals to one.

The game was played in ideal conditions, and the teams were as follows:

Scotland.—Kennaway (Celtic); Crappnell (Airdrieonians), Hay (St. Mirren); Massie (Heart of Midlothian), Walker (St. Mirren), Telfer (Motherwell); Crawford (Queen's Park), McMenemy (Motherwell), Boyd (Clyde), Stevenson (Motherwell); King (Clyde).

Ireland.—Breen; MacClure, S. Mitchell; W. Mitchell, Jones, Walker; Houston, Irvine, Bambrick, Devan, Kelly.

Big Score Undeserved.

The Scots did not deserve such a big victory. The shooting of their forwards were faulty, and time and again chances were thrown away. The best shot for some time was a fast cross shot from Crawford, which Breen saved on a second attempt.

However, after the game had been in progress for 35 minutes, Boyd put the Scots one up with a beautiful left-foot drive, after McMenemy had drawn the defence.

At half time the Scottish League led by one goal to nil.

Irish Equalise.

Upon resumption Scotland pressed, King hitting the post with a great drive. Then Stevenson and Boyd missed badly. The Irishmen drew level when Devan put the finishing touches to a brilliant movement by himself and Kelly.

This goal gave just the necessary impetus to the Scottish forwards and for the rest of the game play was confined to the Irish territory. Stevenson put Scotland ahead with a great shot, and Boyd and Telfer added further goals to make the final score four goals to one.

The inter-League championship will now be decided on November 9, when England is due to meet Scotland. Last year there was a triple tie, each team losing and winning one match.

RUGBY FOOTBALL

CLUB BEAT ARMY IN STIRRING GAME

EXCITEMENT UP TO FINAL WHISTLE

One of the best Rugby matches seen in Hong Kong was staged at Sookunpo on Saturday when the Club met the Army and after a thrilling game, in which the result was in doubt up to the last minute, the Club emerged victorious by three points.

The game was even throughout and the Army had hard luck in going under, as on the run of the play they were slightly the better side. A draw would have been a fairer result.

The Army team, by their display on Saturday, bid fair to win the triangular tournament this year and the Club will have to arrange their side if they are going to hold the Army down.

Half Thompson, the ex-All-Japan player, showed outstanding form and is a valuable asset to the Club (Continued on next column.)

The winning goal came from a penalty kick by McLellan in the second half, and only three minutes from the close of play, the Army were presented with the same opportunity of scoring but failed to gather the points.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING HELD

FOUR RECORDS BROKEN

No fewer than four records were broken at the tenth annual athletic sports meeting of the South China Athletic Association, which was held on their ground at Caroline Hill yesterday. There was a large gathering of interested spectators, among them being the Hon. Mr. Henderson, D.F.W., and Mrs. Henderson, Mr. E. D. Bush and Mr. Mok Hing Sung.

Keen competition was evidenced throughout, and the manner in which the long list of events were run off, gave credit to the organisers. The feature of this year's meeting was the rapid progress made by the Chinese girls.

The records broken were those of Long Jump, Shot Put, 100 metres and 50 metres (girls).

Chiu Ping Han won the Senior championship while Miss Lo Yuk Ho was the champion of her sex.

Prizes Presented.

Before calling upon Mrs. Henderson to present the prizes Mr. Mok Hing Sung, Vice-Chairman of the Association, made a short speech in which he thanked all those present for their kind attendance, particularly Mr. Henderson for his great interest in the Association and Mrs. Henderson for so kindly consenting to give away the prizes.

THE TYPHOON

NO TROUBLE EXPECTED

FILLING UP

According to Mr. C. W. Jeffries, Director of the Royal Observatory, there is very little likelihood that the threatened typhoon will cause any trouble in the Colony.

From its almost stationary position 150 miles to the South-East of Hong Kong where it hovered up till about 9 p.m. on Saturday night, it began to move in a West-South-Westerly course and at mid-day yesterday was about 200 miles South-South-East of Hong Kong.

"The probabilities are," said Mr. Jeffries, "that it will cause us no further trouble, and will most likely fill up before reaching the coast."

It is interesting to note, in the light of the general impression prevailing regarding the unusualness of these disturbances during October, that 16 per cent. of the typhoons experienced by the Colony have occurred during this particular month. July has an average of 19 per cent., and August and September 22 per cent. each.

S.S. Kaying Fights the Storm.

Wireless reports received during the weekend indicated that at least one vessel was in the toils of the typhoon which was raging about 150 miles South-East of Hong Kong.

Messages were received from the China Navigation Co.'s steamer Kaying, Captain Green commanding, to the effect that the ship was making a terrific effort against the smothering force of the typhoon. While the vessel was in no immediate danger, other than that which threatens any craft in a typhoon, she was reported to be slowly drifting towards Pratas Shoals.

The S.S. Kaying is a vessel of 2,630 tons (gross), with a net tonnage of 1,572 tons. She was built and owned by the Taikoo Dockyard Company for the China Navigation Company in 1922, being registered in London. A steel screw vessel, she has an overall length of 310.3 feet, and is fitted for oil fuel.

RUSSIA AND JAPAN

The most interesting problem in statecraft of to-day, not only for the Far East, but for the whole World, lies in the nature of Russo-Japanese relations. Rumour is once more busy with tales of an approach between these traditional enemies, and Reuter's Tokyo correspondent cables circumstantial reports of diplomatic discussions at Moscow, and even of the acceptance of a Non-Aggression Pact, whose terms include the settlement of outstanding causes of dispute, the purchase by Japan of the Chinese Eastern Railway, a virtual recognition of Manchukuo, and the supply to Russia of machinery and goods necessary for the furtherance of the Five-Year Plan. It is significant that Soviet Russia, once the counsellor and friend of the Chinese Republic, has made no protest with regard to events in Manchuria. While the rest of the world has expressed active interest, Russia has been silent. There have been reports of Russian assistance to General Ma CHAN SHAN, but the Governments of Tokyo and Moscow appear to be on terms of complete amiable all the while that events have been in progress sufficient at one time to provoke severely strained diplomatic relations, if not active hostilities. It would almost appear that Russia has despaired of China, and does not even see much hope of turning the "Red" movement in Kiangsi and Honan to her own advantage. Perhaps M. STALIN is beginning to realise that true communism will never be appreciated by such convinced individualists as the Chinese. The great dream of adding China to the Union of Soviet Republics has vanished and the Commissars have turned to realities and are evidently ready to compromise with things they do not like.

Always providing that they can bring themselves to leave each others internal affairs alone, there is no reason why Russia and Japan should not mutually help each other out of their respective troubles. Russia has made her attempt to Bolshevise Japan, but though Communism looked at one time like taking root, the Marxists have by now been roughly and thoroughly torn up and destroyed. Presumably Russia is ready to accept the ban on political proselytising, and, on this basis, business is being discussed. The Five-Year Plan dominates the Russian situation. Despite the secrecy observed it is apparent that the Plan is achieving the half-success that most observers expected. Another five years and the gigantic endeavour may be in working order. So much has been done that abandonment is impossible. On the other hand initial success has brought the Plan hard against the formidable obstruction of world hostility. In the early days of the Plan, when Russia was buying much and selling little, foreign powers were anxious to assist. Now that the products of the Plan are beginning to flood the markets another tale is told, and industrial magnates, who have hitherto shown the greatest alarm at the demands of the working classes, are now full of indignation at the competition of goods produced under slave-labour conditions.

Since Russia and Japan are both experiencing a world-wide reluctance to buy their goods, the remedy is obvious. Japan wants raw materials and food in exchange for manufactured goods, while in Russia the opposite is required. A little commonsense, and a medium of exchange, and both should be happy, and incidentally, should give the World far less trouble than at present. A few faint-hearted may see peril in an alliance between two such Powers. Alliance there may be, but trust, friendship, and assurance that neither would ever betray the other for some immediate advantage, is not to be feared until such a revolution in statecraft, and in human nature, has been experienced that the shadow of war and international rivalry has been banished for ever.

London Irish Parade.

Members of the Old Comrades Association of the London Irish Rifles held their annual Loos Sunday Parade on September 25th. They paraded at the Duke of York Schools and marched to the Royal Exchange Memorial, where a short service was held. The London Irish Rifles was the regiment that kicked the football "over the top" at the battle of Loos on September 25, 1915.

One for the Bully.

The news of the Marquis of Clydesdale's impending Everest attempt has brought out a number of stories about him. Here is one:—Lord Clydesdale was travelling through Germany with a friend, and one day they entered a third-class carriage, where a bully was terrorising the rest of the passengers. The man pushed violently against the newcomers, but it was not until he became still more aggressive that the Marquis rose and tapped him one "on the point." That was the end of the trouble. The bully was much subdued when he recovered his senses.

"Dizzy's" Cabinet Table.

In the Cabinet room of No. 10, Downing-street, the Cabinet sit round an oblong table. The Prime Minister usually sits in the middle, with his back to the mantelpiece. The British Cabinet did not always sit in this way. In a top room of the Junior Carlton Club is an enormous round table which was in the days of the Earl of Beaconsfield for Cabinet discussions. "Dizzy" always had his own particular ideas on everything, and this table was devised so that at the Cabinet meeting

The Peppermint Harvest.

A minor but interesting and important September harvest in England is the peppermint crop, the pretty blue flowers of which are now falling to the reaping-hooks. The plant, found wild in many parts of Britain, and specially cultivated in the southern counties, has its precious and pungent—though, in bulk, overwhelmingly pungent—oil extracted by special processes of distillation. The yield, however, is only some 10lb per ton of peppermint plants. Besides being in great demand for sweet manufacture and medicinal purposes, peppermint oil is shipped to the Continent to play its part in liqueurs.

Lindrum's Skill.

Says a Home correspondent:—"The last time I met Walter Lindrum, who arrived in England on Oct 1st, was at the house of a friend. As no possible handicapping would avail to make a game of billiards practicable, Lindrum, who is a charmingly modest fellow, was quite willing to show us some freak shots.

"The most spectacular was a cannon off the red on to spot white which was lying on the floor. He struck his ball hard, made it leap from the red off table and run along the floor three yards to complete the cannon.

"This may sound too good to be true, but he managed it successfully twice in three attempts. Everyone was equal. It was an idea borrowed from the Arthurian legends. The table nowadays is used for special banquets.

A MIRACLE OF ECONOMY

HOUSING CONDITIONS IN SCOTLAND

KILSYTH SETS A MODEL

The happiest households in Scotland to-day are the people living in the civic housing scheme of Kilsyth, says the Glasgow Weekly Herald. "They are the envy of thousands of other municipal tenants throughout Scotland and England, because not only do they live in houses which are regarded as the model of what such schemes should be, but they also tenant them at the cheapest rates in the country, while the conditions are ideal.

It has been a puzzle to town and county council, not only in Scotland but south of the Border, as to how Kilsyth manages to accomplish this economic miracle. Deputations from cities and towns all over Great Britain have come to Kilsyth to take a lesson in municipal housing, and the fruits of their visits can be seen in their own particular areas as time goes on; but meantime Kilsyth has the proud distinction of perfection as far as housing schemes are concerned throughout Great Britain.

Experts have been puzzled as to how it is done, and it has been suggested that, because Kilsyth has accomplished this miracle within the compass of orthodox economics, the secret of the high cost of housing schemes in other areas is due either to inefficiency or gross ignorance of housing techniques. Not only does Kilsyth enjoy the honour of being the "perfect example," but it also has the distinction of having been able to reduce its rates, an honour which few other burghs in Scotland or elsewhere can claim at the present moment of trade depression; and this despite the fact that the town is situated in a mining area which has been as sorely hit by the industrial blight as the rest of the mining communities in Scotland.

Remarkably Low Rents.

The low rents in the housing schemes in Kilsyth are remarkable. A five-apartment house can be rented at 6s. 4d. a week, including rates. This rent also includes the use of many household conveniences which are not, as a rule, supplied in housing schemes, and which are supplied nowhere else without cost to the tenants. There are washing machines (which may be used as gas boilers) and dust bins. As the majority of the tenants had formerly stayed in houses where built-in beds had been in use, the council supplied oak bedsteads in the new houses. The living rooms are fitted with Press cupboards, which may be used as sideboards. All this is included in the 6s. 4d.

How does Kilsyth do it? That is the question which has puzzled many housing committees, for some of them find it difficult to make their rents less than double the Kilsyth rate.

In an interview with the Weekly Herald, Mr. Jarvie, the convener of the housing committee, said that he saw no reason why other town councils should not build houses every bit as cheaply as houses were being built in Kilsyth. In his opinion, every council which took full advantage of the 1930 Housing Act, and which built houses mainly of four and five apartments, should be able to charge rents which were as low as those in Kilsyth. "One of the essentials," he said, "is speed. A council finishing a scheme before the financial year ends gets the full grant for that year, though there may be no tenants in the houses. This enables the council to pay for the work immediately, thus avoiding paying interest on loans which so many councils rely upon, and thus cutting expenditure."

When Mr. Jarvie was asked if cheapness of the ground on which the buildings are erected accounted for the low rates, he pointed out that one of the reasons which had caused the housing committee, because their own costs were too high, was Transcot. Transcot paid £70 an acre for their ground, Kilsyth paid £118 an acre. Therefore he thought that in most cases the cost of the ground had very little to do with the question. Kilsyth has already built about 400 houses, and has just started on another 100. "Where these are finished more will have to be built, for there have already been many more than 100 applications for the new houses. Kilsyth is fighting the depression, and not only is it bettering the conditions of its people, but it is doing so economically."

At the joint meeting of the various chambers of commerce in Kiangsu Province held at Chinkiang on Friday, strong opposition against a second American loan by the Government was voiced. It was decided that General Chiang Kai Shek, Chairman of the Military Committee and the Government should be petitioned to cancel the proposition. The representatives of the chambers are also to request the provincial authorities to lift the ban on the exportation of rice temporarily so as to increase the price.

Looking Back 25 Years.

A meeting of the Sanitary Board was held on October 29 at the Board Room. The Hon. Dr. J. H. Atkinson (President) presided, and there were also present Hon. Mr. W. Chatham, C.M.G. (Vice-President), Hon. Mr. A. W. Brewin (Registrar-General), Dr. F. Clark, Medical Officer of Health, Hon. Mr. E. A. Hewett, Captain Lyons, Captain Superintendent of Police, Mr. A. Shelton Hooper, Mr. H. Humphreys, Mr. Lau Chu Pak and Mr. G. A. Woodcock, secretary.

The Registrar-General, in terms of notice moved that "The Government be requested to make rules under the water works ordinance to regulate the placing of water tanks in back yards. In doing so, he said: For the last few months we had a great many applications for permission to place water tanks in the yards and we have always dealt with them under the Public Health Building Ordinance, treating them simply as encroachment upon the space provided by the Ordinance. At the last meeting the Director of Public Works informed us that it was proposed to put these tanks under the Water Ordinance. Until we knew the intention of the Government it is simply a waste of time for us to consider any more of these applications. The Chinese take a great interest in this question of prohibition of water tanks and I think we are justified in asking the Government to make regulations as soon as possible and publish them for general information.

Looking Back 50 Years.

Some two or three years ago, when a London contemporary advocated the importation into England of Chinese washermen, we predicted prompt opposition to such a movement persevered in. The contingency then seemed so remote, however, that no notice was taken of the suggestion by the British working classes, and the subject soon dropped for the time. The recent prominence given to the Chinese in England and a proposal said to have been made to introduce Chinese labour in England have led to a demonstration against it by the classes immediately concerned. —Hong Kong Daily Press, October 31, 1932.

FRANCE AND DISARMAMENTDETAILS OF NEW SCHEME

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Oct. 30. INTERNATIONAL atmosphere has so far encouraged M. Herriot to pursue his daring plan, the verbal summary of which will probably be given verbally at Geneva on November 3.

The London official opinion is silently hopeful that the initiative of the American, Mr. Norman Davis, will lead to an achievement of the formula under which Germany will be brought back to the Geneva Conference.

Though no German delegation will be at the Disarmament Bureau meeting at Geneva on Thursday, it is known that Herr von Neurath will then be at Geneva in connection with the Manchurian issue.

It is realised that a final solution of the disarmament problem hinges on the result of the German elections, but the German Government's qualified welcome of the plan shows a constructive approach is now being made from both sides of the Geneva fence.

The Observer says that the plan is mystifying Paris and the world. The scheme is hard for Germany to accept as it will perpetuate for some years the present relative inferiority of the Reich which it contends is a vital cause of difficulty and danger not to the Franco-German question but the complicated Polish question, but for which a rapprochement of Gaul and Teuton would be effected.

Two More Points.

The official French communiqué adds two points to those announced by M. Herriot yesterday.

The points are the conditions on which France will agree to a generalisation and reduction of short-term service for all metropolitan and land forces which are:

(1) Provided disarmament is independent between land, sea and air forces.

(2) Provided that nations responsible for overseas territories retain specialised forces.

An important statement on French disarmament plan as it affects Britain was made to Herriot in Paris by a high official closely associated with the preparation of the plan. He said there was no cause for alarm in Britain as there was no question of resuscitating the protocol with its compulsory armed resistance for attacked countries. The proposed system of regional and mutual assistance did not mean asking Britain to join in the Eastern Locarno, nor was Britain called on to supply troops to a standing common army to prevent aggression.

Similarly, the plan did not affect armaments such as Britain's which are kept for colonial service. Britain is not expected to adopt conscription.

Hope of Agreement.

PARIS, Oct. 29. France's willingness to accept a general reduction in the period of compulsory military service was the principal point in the outline of the French Disarmament Plan, announced by M. Herriot, Prime Minister, in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday.

Acceptance of such a plan was, of course, conditional. One thing upon which France must insist was the dissolution of such bodies as the German Reichswehr, even though they were not constituted on a conscription basis.

The Reichswehr, a sort of military police force, is alleged in certain quarters, to constitute a force sufficient to form a powerful arm of any new German Army.

Recently, a disarmament plan, urging the establishment of an international police force, control by the League of arms manufacture and military budgets, was put forward by French Parliamentary members.

France's other conditions, announced by M. Herriot, include the international control of arms, including the right of inspection of national armaments, conclusion of regional pacts for mutual assistance open to all European countries, which will provide a collective force to suppress aggression, and a guarantee of security by the United States.

It is assumed that M. Herriot's offer implies that Germany will be at liberty to introduce conscription, but that unconscriptioned military or semi-military forces must be abolished. Such a point is probably aimed at the various political "armies" of Germany, as well as the Reichswehr.

Germany Accepts.

BERLIN, Oct. 29. It is learnt officially that the German disarmament plan can be made acceptable as a basis of discussion.

AMERICAN
MURDEREDBY BANDITS AT MACHENG

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

SHANGHAI, Oct. 30. AN American missionary, the Reverend Bert Nelson who was captured by Communist bandits on October 5, was murdered at Macheng, Hupeh, on October 23, according to despatches from Peiping.

Driven from their usual lair in Chiling district, the brigades holding Nelson occupied Macheng after the walls of the city had been levelled by an earthquake, and, finding themselves hemmed in by advance Government troops, shot the captive.

Nelson had been employed to teach English during his captivity. The bandits made abortive demands for ransom, including large supplies of arms, ammunition, medical supplies, gramophones, pianos, wireless sets and a variety of other luxuries.

CATSPA W FOR SMUGGLERSSINGAPORE GANG
BROKEN UP
WILES OF A CLEVER
ORGANISATION

With the conviction of three Chinese, two of whom are partners in a local chop, a well-organised gang of chandu smugglers operating between China ports and Singapore is alleged to have been broken up. There had been a third partner but since the time attention had been centred on the chop by the Singapore Preventive Service he is said to have "discreetly disappeared" and not been seen since.

The charges against the accused were being in possession of 1,200 tahils of non-Government chandu, valued at $9,000, and being concerned in the importing of chandu into the Colony.

The second accused, Teo Koo Chuan, pleaded guilty. Mr. C. Wilson, the Criminal District Judge, referred to this man as being the "cat's paw put up by the gang to accept all the blame." Sentence upon him was deferred for one week for new fingerprints to be taken as he denied four previous convictions.

Mr. P. H. Elkins conducted the case for the prosecution, while Mr. S. Fung and Mr. W. E. Demuth appeared for the first accused, Teo Kim Lin, and Mr. E. C. Thirumalingam for the third, Ching Kim Buan.

The facts, shortly, are that 217 New Bridge Road was kept under observation for a few days, as a result of which 205 Moulmein Road was raided on Sept. 30 and after an exhaustive search lasting over two hours the Revenue officers found chandu. A Chinese, the second accused, had been sandpapering a mahjong table set in the centre of a room throughout the time the officers were in the house. This appeared suspicious and the table was removed. A slab which was found loose in the floor, was taken out, and a tank full of fresh water was revealed. At the bottom of the tank was the chandu. The first two accused were arrested, while the third accused was detained some days later.

Governor's Launch. Teo Kim Lin, the first accused, said he lived at 217, New Bridge Road and was the managing partner of Chop Kiam Lam, dealing in soap, carbide and Chinese liquor. The second accused was the driver to a man named Kim Bee Bee, a tenant of 217, New Bridge Road. Shortly after 1 p.m. on Sept. 30, the second accused came to the house for his employer, but the latter was not in, having gone out about 10 a.m. "I have never seen

BRITAIN AND
CHINAMORE CO-OPERATION
ADVOCATED

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Oct. 30. MORE effective diplomatic co-operation in China is strongly urged by a special correspondent to the Observer in an article on China, not only narrowing the gulf of the two services in China itself, but he suggests that Consuls make additional personal contacts, first to English industrial concerns, secondly to British Chambers of Commerce.

The commercial diplomatic service should be reorganised and concentrated at Shanghai, while the present is the right moment to bring the Legation to, or nearer, Nanking. He suggests in this matter, either a temporary chancery could be erected on the spacious grounds of the Consulate General at Shanghai with a Minister residing at the Consul-General's house, or a suitable house outside in Shanghai which could be leased and a temporary chancery erected nearby.

Answering the argument that this would mean that a Minister would become immersed in Shanghai problems, the correspondent contends it would be a great thing for a Minister to come into closer contact with the British community in Shanghai.

The scheme would save the cost of the Legation and guard at Peiping.

Another alternative scheme would be to house the Minister in temporary buildings at Nanking, but this would be more expensive as it would necessitate new buildings to house the staff which would not be necessary at Shanghai.

While advocating closer British co-operation with China, the correspondent says this must not be confused with laxness, and he gives instances of the unsatisfactory features of the administration of the Boxer Indemnity Fund arising from insufficient provision in the agreement for an inspection and audit.

He also cites Sir Hope Simpson's work as a successful example of co-operation.

him since," added witness.

Witness said the second accused invited him to go for a ride in the car. They first stopped at the driver's house, 205 Moulmein Road. Witness was taken upstairs where he was told to sit down while the second accused went down. There were also some women there.

While he was waiting, the revenue people arrived. He was found examining a pad on the table and shortly afterwards was arrested.

During the cross-examination of the third accused by Mr. Elkins, he was referred to a certain letter which he received from his brother in Amoy. Reference was made in this letter to the Governor of Formosa who was going to sell a motor-launch, the Leng Hai Wan, by auction. The letter proceeded:

"It is a strongly built launch with a speed of 15 to 16 miles. If you think fit you might form me by telegram or send me the money required at the same time. It will fetch about $10,000. Are you successful in Singapore? Another part of the letter, after referring to certain places in China, said: 'These places produce opium and give good prospects.'"

At the conclusion of the submissions of counsel for the defence, Mr. Elkins said, "I submit that this shop in New Bridge Road was the headquarters of a very clever organisation. When they realised they were caught they put up the second accused to take the blame. It was owing to the Department keeping observation on the first accused that this house in Moulmein Road was discovered. There was an interchange of names and motor numbers the whole way through by all persons connected with this organisation. . . . I submit that these moves were made to throw dust into the eyes of the revenue officers."

Extremely Strong Case. His Honour, in finding the accused guilty, said, "It is an extremely strong case against them. It is one circumstance after another and I find them both guilty on both charges. I look on the second accused as the cat's paw put up to accept all the blame. He is not, however, the big man at all. The first and third accused are bigger than he is."

Asked if any of the accused had previous convictions Mr. Elkins pointed out that the second accused had four against him, one of which was for possession of non-Government chandu in 1927. He had been fined $2,000 but had paid the fine. In 1928 he was arrested again for the same offence but he absconded.

The accused denied these convictions. Sentence on him was put back for one week for new fingerprints to be taken for new fingerprints.

The first and third accused were fined $5,000 each or two years' rigorous imprisonment. Bail in the sum of $10,000 was fixed in the event of appeal being lodged.

NEGOTIATIONSOVIET PREPARED TO SELL
RAILWAY

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

TOKYO, Oct. 29. THE question of a non-aggression pact and economic co-operation between Japan and Russia is reported to have been discussed at a meeting between M. Troianovsky and the Japanese Ambassador to Moscow, M. Hirota, who is now home on furlough.

It is reported that Mr. Hirota, before his departure from Moscow, was informally approached by M. Karakhan, who said that the Soviet Government was prepared to enter into negotiations for the sale of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

The meeting between the two Ambassadors was arranged by the initiative of M. Troianovsky.

A similar report of negotiations between Japan and Russia on economic lines was given widely throughout the world recently, but the various statements at that time lacked confirmation of an official nature. Rumours of friction between Japan and Russia persisted.

The more recent despatches from Moscow and Tokyo, however, have, in general, more than hinted at the approach of a commercial agreement.

PEIPING, Oct. 29. A REPORT has been received from Chefoo through a foreign informant that there has been heavy fighting at Laichow, where Liu Chen Nien is holding out against greater numbers.

Five hundred of Liu's troops are holding Taitsa, where a hundred of Han Fu Chu's cavalry made their appearance outside the walls.

Liu's troops are carrying out sporadic raids at Laichow in quest of food and clothes and miscellaneous requirements.

Chefoo Remains Quiet

The Chinese cruiser Hai Cheng is now in the inner harbour, where there are also English, American, and Japanese warships.

VARIED AIR CARGOES

LONDON, October 7.

That the air services are becoming more and more popular for the transport of light goods is illustrated by the diversity of cargoes being sent abroad from Croydon Airport. We learn these have ranged from Oil Paintings worth many thousands of pounds, loaned to foreign exhibitions, to some pump fittings urgently required for the Suez Canal. Some wireless valves were sent by air to the Royal Palace at Bukarest and a motor party, stranded in Africa, were supplied with spares in the desert; also day-old chicks have been rushed to Germany, Russia and Rumania.

ANOTHER HAUL FROM THE EGYPT

LONDON, October 9.

The Italian salvage steamer Artiglio arrived at Plymouth yesterday with the fifth cargo of specie recovered from the wreck of the P. & O. liner Egypt, which sank off Dubut in 1929. It was only possible to work for two days owing to bad weather, during which time gold and silver worth £70,000 was brought up, bringing the total salvaged this year to £735,000.

SWATOW NOTES

RAILWAY CO., CASHIER ROBBED AND MURDEREDMURDERER ARRESTED IN HONG KONG

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Swatow, October 23.

For some time a small gang has been in the habit of holding up ferry boats and robbing the passengers as they proceeded to the inland town of Tsa Che. Being armed with revolvers they always had their own way. At last the Police Headquarters were informed and a trap set for the pirates. One day last week a strong force of armed policemen and detectives in disguise proceeded to Tsa Che in two sampans. No sooner were they within range than the pirates, believing them to be ordinary passengers, opened a fusillade. According to plan no response was made to the fire. A fierce struggle took place when the police and pirate sampans were alongside each other. As one of the detectives made a dash at the pirate chief, the latter shot him at point blank range in the stomach, causing an instantaneous death.

Knowing the game was up the rest of the marauders jumped into the water but were all caught, except the chief who was shot dead. The pirates who have been operating from an ordinary sampans did not number more than six or seven. They were daring and enterprising as their field of operations was quite near to this town and in a busy fairway.

To-day special and impressive homage was paid to the deceased member of the police force. After the funeral ceremonies a huge parade took place, a band leading. Hundreds of scrolls were carried. Besides the friends and relatives of the deceased, many of the village people came out to attend the functions. The police were well represented.

Murder Sensation.

What appeared to be a dastardly murder was perpetrated last Thursday evening when the cashier of the railway company was shot dead in his office by a young man of twenty-four, who robbed the office of several thousand dollars, the property of his employers.

The murderer is said to be the adopted son of an influential director of the railway company residing in Sumatra.

Recently the accused returned to Swatow and stayed in a hotel but was turned out as he was unable to pay his bill. Although the cashier had refused his repeated requests for money the criminal kept on loitering about the places as if bent on mischief.

On Thursday evening, however, (as was known afterwards), when the office was closed for the day, the accused, it is said, went up to the cashier and murdered him in cold blood, decamping with the money. The dead man was dragged to the basement unnoticed, but a young employee since has testified to see the murderer hiding behind the door during the fatal evening. When the cashier did not return home for dinner, his wife enquired at the office and a search was made for him. As a result of enquiries it was discovered the accused had gone. On Saturday nine detectives accompanied by an employee went to Hong Kong and, after an extensive search, the accused was found in the Empress Hotel.

NATIVE MENACE TO
BIG GAMEEAST AFRICAN PROBLEM
POISONED ARROWS AND SPRING TRAPS

The principal menace to game in East Africa comes not from the highly organised safaris which during the dry season hunt for trophies on the well-known Serengeti Plains in Tanganyika and elsewhere, but from the African natives themselves, who in parts of Kenya, by means of spring traps and poisoned arrows, are responsible for wholesale massacre.

The Game Department of Kenya, to which the Colony, and in fact the whole of East Africa, owes a great debt of gratitude for its conservation of wild life, has repeatedly drawn attention to the poisoning activities of certain tribes; and the fact that there were nearly five hundred convictions against natives during 1921 for poisoning, and only nine against Europeans, testifies to the determination in serious poisoning with the rifle.

The idea of natives with bows and arrows and primitive traps not only effectively killing the quarry, but actually going far towards the annihilation of great

RUSSIAN RAIL
DISASTERNEWS SUPPRESSED BY SOVIET GOVERNMENT

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Oct. 29. NEWS of a disaster to the Black Sea express on October 16, which was apparently suppressed under the orders of the Soviet Government, has just reached London. It is said that ninety persons were killed in the disaster and that three hundred were injured. The only link of the tragedy from Russia is afforded by the news from Moscow that a station master, signalman, and three other railway officials are being tried at the Assizes in a small town eight miles from Moscow in respect of an accident on October 16, which occurred through an express dashing into a shunting engine to which carriages were attached, resulting in the loss of many lives.

A message from Cologne states that the newspaper Koelnische Blatt, giving the above particulars of the casualties, learns from a passenger on the ill-fated train that the first six coaches were overturned after the tremendous impact.

PRINCE OPENS NEW BRIDGE

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, Oct. 28.

THE Prince of Wales flew in his private aeroplane to Worcester, where he opened the new bridge and Park and fulfilled several other public engagements.

Referring in his speech to the unemployment problem, he said the question of how to restore the old level of employment aid, in the meantime, how best to care for those who through no fault of their own were out of work, was rarely out of his mind.

He congratulated the people of Worcester on the local efforts made to give occupation and to provide organised recreation for the workless.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS IN ENGLANDLOCAL EXPENDITURES THE BIG ISSUE

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, Oct. 28.

THE campaign in connection with the Municipal Elections next Tuesday to fill vacancies caused by the retirement in rotation of members of Borough Council in nearly 300 cities and towns in England, outside the London County Council area, are actively proceeding.

Last year Labour and Socialist candidates suffered a net loss of 202 seats in about 80 of the larger boroughs and in view of their opposition to reduction in local expenditure, this question is in most cases the dominant issue of the present elections.

Local rates have, however, been steadily reduced in the last five years and the decrease since 1929 exceeds 11 per cent. The average rates have fallen in that period from 12/10 to 11/12. The amount collected from the whole body of ratepayers in England and Wales in the last financial year was £148,000,000.

Ivory Smuggling.

The extended use of poisoned arrows has led to legislation designed to prevent the preparation and distribution of the poison, which surprisingly enough has only been known to the Administration for the past few years; and this fact, considered with the great quantity of ivory and rhino horn which is yearly smuggled across the border into Italian Somaliland, suggests that the deadly substance may have been introduced into the Colony from outside, or at any rate distributed with the object of facilitating the taking of these trophies.

Yet it is feared that the great Wakamba tribe whose rights to certain lands between the Masai Reserve and the Kenya and Uganda Railway line are now being

JAPANESE "REDS"
SENT TO PRISON182 COMMUNISTS GIVEN
STIFF SENTENCES

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

TOKYO, Oct. 29. SENTENCES ranging from life imprisonment to the two years' penal servitude were passed on 182 Communists at the end of a protracted trial here. The Communists were arrested about three months ago, about the time the Empire was distressed by the assassination of its Premier. The Communists were not implicated in that plot, but in others, some of them against the Emperor's person, some against the whole system of government.

Since the wholesale arrest of suspects in Japan, and the tightening of the laws where treason is concerned, the activities of Communists have been suppressed to a great extent.

WELL-DRESSED
WOMENTAKE NOTE OF LATEST
FASHIONS

LONDON, October 1.

All well-dressed women this autumn, it is understood will be wearing woodland or orchard colourings, with woodland fur in high piled masses around the backs of their heads. Hoels are to be high, stockings beige, hats dark, worn well over the right eye, putting it out with a spear-sharp point. A perky bow, or bow-end merely suggesting a non-existent bow, can balance the spear point.

Our representative visitor Marjorie of 99, New Bond Street, W., to-day, where the latest designs of Mr. Frank Brighten—the designer of the "Bowler" which had a rapid vogue, and of the equally famous but perhaps more becoming "Boater"—were displayed. He is now introducing the "Little Convict" and the "Onion Man" designs. In the former, three strips of material are cunningly cut and stitched together to give a skull cap fitting closely to the crown, with a sharp peak coming on the forehead thus taking away the bare look so noticeable lately. The "Onion Man" rather resembles a tam-o'-shanter, pouched over one eye.

At the Shoe and Leather Fair, to be opened at the Agricultural Hall on October 3, Court shoes with very discreet trimmings will be conspicuous. Some are made with heel grips to save the stockings and lessen the strain on the ankles. Whilst black shoes predominate, there are over a hundred different shades, and some of the smartest shoes are in two colours. In the mannequin parade for leather garments, there will be many designs by Helen Chandler, notably a nut-brown travelling leather coat, opening down the sides instead of in front; an air-woman's suit in sky-blue kid and a white kid evening cape decorated with insertions of silver plated chain mail.

Very long or very large earrings are being worn in the evening. Lady Londonderry and Lady Ravensdale have always favoured this fashion; Miss Diana Coventry, too, frequently wears them. At a dinner last week the Maharani of Cochin Behar wore huge earrings consisting of a sapphire, almost the size of a shilling from which dangled a fringe of nine exquisite pearls. Mrs. Wolf Barnato's earrings were equally striking, but of quite a different kind. Each was a large round plaque of elaborately carved ivory.

considered by the Kenya Land Commission—will adopt these dastardly traps and commence destroying the big game in a vast tract of land where it has hitherto roamed more or less undisturbed. It is not surprising then that settlers in East Africa inclined to be amused at periodic outcries against the damage done by low-flying aeroplanes and shooting safaris, while no mention is made of African devices designed to destroy and maim big game in the cruellest manner.

As an instance of this the Game Warden has recently called attention to the foot-shares constructed with logs used by the Turkana tribe, which, after days of torture with a broken limb, may eventually bring a giraffe, a buffalo, or a rhinoceros to destruction.

There are undoubtedly fewer shooting safaris being fitted out this year, perhaps owing to the prevailing lack of money, perhaps because it is at last being realised that big game hunting with present-day weapons is no longer a sport in the true sense of the word—but the general interest in the game of East Africa, as evidenced by the thousands of feet of films taken of wild life under all conditions, is increasing, and the desire for mere slaughter is on the wane.

Week End Sport.

MRS. FROST WINS LADIE'S MILE

BIG DIVIDENDS AT OPENING RACE MEETING AT FANLING

BIG FAVOURITE DEFEATED IN LAST RACE

[By "MORNING DEW"]

Although at one time the typhoon threatened to spoil the week-end, the "Clerk of the Weather" played the game with racegoers yesterday and allowed the opening meeting of the Fanling Club to be held in excellent weather. At one stage rain threatened to spoil a fine afternoon's programme, but fortunately it held off.

The tilt of the afternoon's racing, of course, was the Ladies Mile, and this, as generally anticipated, went to Mrs. Frost who rode The Crook. Mrs. Frost showed excellent judgment on her mount and came in comfortably in the straight. Miss Farr rode an excellent race on Estrellita to finish second while Miss P. Scott Harston on Prestwick took third place.

MR. EVANS' SURPRISE WIN FOR PUNTERS

Mr. D. B. Evans rode a wonderful race in the Machine Gun Troop Hurdle Race and brought home Demurrer in front of White Stars and Mountain Rat. White Stars and Cupid were well fancied for this race but Mr. Evans kept Demurrer prominently all the way and taking the lead on the home straight, won just as he liked. His supporters got a little more than 70 to 1 for their confidence in Demurrer.

One of the hottest favourites of the day, Vasylock was beaten in the last race. The pony had to carry top weight and this fact proved his undoing. He ran well all the way round but when Amos drew up with him in the straight and challenged him in the run home, Vasylock was not equal to it.

Mr. Carroll won the six furlongs race for novices in grand style, finishing all by himself. In the other six furlongs race, which was confined to Mueno subs, Mr. Caplan, after wrestling with a bad start, brought New King along in fine style to win from Pure Music, ridden by Mr. P. Young. Mr. Chanson took third place and just nosed out Guiding Star on the winning post for place money.

Mr. Charles was the most successful jockey of the afternoon winning two races on Herga and Roostan, respectively, and finishing second on Vasylock.

The race meeting was graced by a large gathering, amongst whom were His Excellency the Officer-Administering the Government, the Hon. Mr. W. T. Southern and Mrs. Southern.

As was to be expected there were the usual "spills," not a few jockeys tumbling at the jumps, but fortunately with one exception, without serious consequence. The exception was the case of Mr. Gillespie who came down rather heavily when riding Duke of Normandy in the last race and had to be removed in an ambulance.

HONG KONG RIFLE CLUB

INTERPORT PRACTISE SHOOT

The Interport Practise Competition which was held at Kowloon Tong yesterday and on Saturday has proved a great success, and has brought out many "dark horses."

The Typhoon Signal on Saturday was responsible for a small attendance in the afternoon and though the light was good, wind hampered steady shooting.

Yesterday morning 18 competitors arrived on the Kowloon Tong Range, of which four were representatives from the 1st Bn. Lincoln and six from the Royal Marines, all of whom were shooting on this range for the first time.

Scoring was high throughout and up to Bisley standard, when one considers the conditions under which competitors were shooting. The Flag at 300 yards was showing a strong breeze from the right and at 400 yards a breeze from the left.

It was hard to tell who would get into the 1st six so equal were the scores. Mr. B. A. Starling managed to win with a score of 87, which surprised competitors who knew he had not practiced for the past six months. Still more creditable is the fact that he was shooting with open sights. Marine Dance came second with a score of 85, while Lieut. Hoguard who also scored 85 was counted out at last range.

R. A. Starling won the cup, 2nd and 3rd prizes being silver spoons. An additional prize of a spoon was given also to the highest gun at each range. Mr. L. A. Scores was awarded spoon for high gun at 200 yards with a score of 28, Sergt. Dyble and S. Conway who drew with a score of 31 at 500 yards and A. Chappelle scored 30 at 600 yards.

The following were the best results:—

"BROTHER ALFRED"

COMING TO THE QUEEN'S

A trade notice says:—
The most luxurious modern yacht commissioned expressly for a millionaire who died before the craft was launched was reproduced for the setting of the new B.I.P. film
"Brother Alfred," which will be shown at the Queen's Theatre tomorrow.

The action of the film, which is directed by Henry Edwards, from the story by P. G. Wodehouse and Herbert Westbrook, takes place on board a yacht which is cruising in the Mediterranean under the ownership of an American millionaire. To secure the finest possible model the Elstree art director searched among the most modern and palatial craft afloat, from the luxury yachts of Royalty down to the trim and workmanlike boats of sports enthusiasts.

The yacht which met with the approval of both Edwards and the art director was built at a cost of $25,000. The saloons, cabins, bathrooms, and deck of the yacht have been produced identically and to scale on the studio floor at Elstree.
A shipbuilding carpenter was engaged for a week in laying the timber on the deck, and this part of the deck with its fittings, awnings and marine gear is correct to the last rivet.

"NEW MORALS FOR OLD"VIGOROUS, MODERN DRAMA

A simple, honest, straightforward story of family life and the problems of the younger generation is told in "New Morals for Old,"
which opens on Wednesday at the Queen's Theatre as a filmization of Van Druten's play, "After All,"
which enjoyed a successful run on Broadway last season.

Here is depicted the age-old struggle between parents and their children. A boy and girl resolve to lead their own lives, defying conventions and the wishes of their parents whom they consider to be old-fashioned. For the boy, who goes to Paris, to study art, there are gay nights in the celebrated Latin quarter. For the girl, there is a clandestine romance and a runaway marriage. In the end it is shown that the younger generation always steers back to the course of sanity, even as their parents sowed their "wild oats" but turned out all right before them.

Lewis Stone's performance as the old-fashioned father is as usual flawless and the rôle of the mother
by Laura Hope Crewes. Others who deserve credit for excellent work in supporting parts include Myrna Loy, David Nowell, Jean Hersholt, Ruth Selwyn, Kathryn Crawford
and Louise Closser Hale.

"THE LOST SQUADRON"

RKO RADIO PRODUCTION

A trade notice states:—
An inspiration born at a get-together of Hollywood's famous
"Suicide Gang"—dare-devil stunt aviators who had cheated death
during the World War but were going West one by one in film
"crack-ups"—resulted in "The Lost Squadron," the Radio production opening at the Central Theatre to-morrow. "Everyone of these air pictures in which we risk our necks is called 'the air epic of all times,'" remarked the most notable ace of them all, Dick Grace, who has deliberately "cracked-up" a greater number of planes for the movies than any man living. "Some of us fellows ought to get up a real thriller for 'em—one they could really brag about," suggested the famous Frank Clark. They were all there—Babe Green, Art Gobel, Harry Reynolds, Garland Lincoln,
and several others—some of them
alive-to-day, some of them "gone
west" in movie crashes.

Those who lived flew in "The Lost Squadron," when RKO Radio Pictures filmed it. Grace thought it over, and decided to do just that—write the air story. He decided to get it published first. And he decided to write it, not around the World War flying, but around

"AMATEUR DADDY"

NEXT PICTURE AT KING'S

A trade notice states:—
Fourteen years in cinema circles equals many generations in any other profession. Yet John Bly-stone, famous director of half a hundred Fox Film successes, claims
he is just beginning his career.
His fifty-fifth production for Fox Films, is Warner Baxter's latest starring picture "Amateur Daddy," which opens on Thursday next at the King's Theatre.

During his years as a leading director, Blystone has "been baby players grow into grown-up rôles."
He has seen cinema stars rise to brilliance, then fade away. He has witnessed fundamental changes in practically every branch of the industry, yet he has so managed to keep in step with the times and one step ahead of them, as to remain ever one of the most capable directors in Hollywood.

"Films mirror life," Blystone frequently observes, "and our mores of living are constantly changing. All a director has to do in order to retain his ability, is to alter his own viewpoint of surrounding conditions and ways of living as fast as they occur. This modern attitude will be reflected in his method of direction, and will keep him in the forefront of popularity long after the opinionated director has passed out of the picture."

In "Amateur Daddy" Blystone has surrounded Baxter with a powerful cast. Marian Nixon plays the leading feminine rôle with Rita Laroy, William Pawley and David
Landau in the other featured parts.
Four of Hollywood's most talented child players, Joe Hachey, Gail Kornfield, Frankie Darro and Joan Breslaw are also in the picture.

"ONE HEAVENLY NIGHT"EVELYN LAYE AND JOHN BOLES AT THE KING'S

"One Heavenly Night," showing
at the King's Theatre is an extremely pleasant film in the tradition of Viennese light opera.
There are some romantic scenes in that manner, one that is quite thrilling, and fooling of a kind that had the audience genuinely delighted.

Evelyn Laye and John Boles, in the leading parts, make a most romantic couple, and their duets
are so charming that one wishes for more. In fact the fault of the film is that there ought to be more singing, and especially chorus singing. There are places where the time could have been better filled in that way, than according to the Directors' ideas. Evelyn Laye is not as beautiful on the screen as on the stage of Daylight Theatre,
nor has she the fire of, say Joan Crawford. But she makes an accomplished and vivacious heroine,
in the difficult part of an innocent,
though madly ambitious girl, who has been called upon to impersonate the most impudent hussy in Buda Pest. Lilyan Tashman plays that rôle with great verve, and the opening scene, when she causes and leads an uproar at a fashionable night-club, gives the film an admirable start. Leon Errol, as Evelyn's faithful factotum supplies
the comedy, and his unfortunate antics in an art gallery, after sup-ping too well, are an excellent interlude.

"One Heavenly Night," is good entertainment—far above the usual run of film stuffs—and well worth seeing. R.B.

that more dangerous game, stunt flying for the movies. That gave it the modern touch he wanted.
Modern aviation contains thrills the old aviators couldn't supply.

So "The Lost Squadron" was born. First in fiction, in magazine, serial and book, then in the movies.
And the stunt fliers themselves say it's really "The air epic of all times" when it comes to thrills that are thrills. A Hollywood stunt flier knows a thrill when he sees one—or risks his neck doing
it. Richard Dix stars in the picture, and with him are such favorites as Mary Astor, Erich Von Stroheim, Joel McCrea, Dorothy Jon-dan, Robert Armstrong—and the stunt fliers.

"CARNIVAL"

AT CENTRAL THEATRE

"Carnival," a super film, and one of the most outstanding British picture of the year will be seen on the 6th of November at the Central Theatre. The main features of this unusual film are the melodramatic sequences which have been deftly woven with rhythmic music played by a fine band, into some of the most colourful and artistic scenes which have yet been seen. Gorgeously mounted, beautifully acted and produced, it certainly deserves the praises showered
upon it when at the Tivoli, London, where by the way, it broke box-office records. The Venetian scenes, some in colour, are super-latively lovely, and Herbert Wilcox,
the director, has brilliantly succeeded in imbuing the spirit of Carnival throughout the film. Matheson Lang has his original rôle, in which he is the magician, and Dorothy Bouchier proves a lovely and talented actress. The claim is made for "Carnival" that it is an entertainment which has never been bettered on the ocean, and here is what some of the papers say about it.

News of the World:—"Carnival"—a British film triumph.
Without the slightest hesitation or qualification it can be dubbed a masterpiece—the greatest that has come from any British studio.
Daily Mail:—There is not a moment in "Carnival" when the mind is not intrigued, the eye
enchanted or the emotions stirred.
Miss Dorothy Bouchier will presently be the most popular star in British talking pictures."

"SKY BRIDE"

AT THE ORIENTAL

A trade notice states:—
Stephen Robert, recently signed Paramount director who worked as an advisory director with Norman Taurog on "Sooky," just recently completed his first full directorial assignment in the production of "Sky Bride," which is now showing at the Oriental Theatre.
"Sky Bride" is a modern story
of aviation motivated by a gripping theme of love and adventure,
in which Richard Arlen, Virginia
Bruce, Jack Oakie, Charles Starrett and Robert Coogan play the leading rôles.
The story of "Sky Bride" has a rich melodramatic flavour. Arlen,
as a stunt flyer for an air circus,
goes stale after a crack-up that killed his partner. He is taunted by another flyer as being "yellow."
This stings him into a desperate effort in which he saves the life of Robert Coogan and also wins the admiration and love of his sweetheart, Virginia Bruce.
Director Roberts is a former Army aviator and did stunt and air circus flying after the war.
Since 1923 he has been a scenario writer and director of short subjects.

FILMS IN THE OLD
WORLDAN ENGLISH GIRL GETS HER CHANCE

Let no one say that young English film actresses never get a chance.

Diana Napier, one of the four London girls signed up by London Film Productions in April, is to have a leading part in "Bright Lights of London," which Arthur Wimperis has written and which Rowland Lee will direct.

Miss Napier had a small part in "Wedding Rehearsal," which you will shortly be seeing. When she went into that picture she had had no previous experience of films.
But Mr. Korda, observing her talents, signed her up on a five-year contract.

That is a courageous thing to do.
The engagement of an entirely new personality for films, over a long period, is mortgaging one's faith
in her ability.

A Significant Sign.

It is saying: "I perceive your talents as an actress, as a film
type, as a person whose beauty, temperament and intelligence will register with the film public. And I will back you to the limit."

It is, I am sure, the correct political, and suggests the quality which distinguishes a producer of conviction from a producer with none. British screen actresses have suffered ever and over again
through producers having no faith
in them.

They have put them in a picture and let them go. But without that faith no star can have faith in herself. I therefore applaud Miss Napier's rise to the stately altitudes.
It is a significant sign of the new spirit in British film production—
a spirit of daring with knowledge.

One of Thirteen.

"Bright Lights of London" is one of thirteen new productions on which Alexander Korda is at present engaged.

Two of them, "Young Apollo"
and "The Girl from Maxim's," now being made in Paris, I have already discussed in these notes. The details of the remaining films have not yet been settled, but their titles alone are interesting.

Allan Dwan, for instance, who wrote to me the other day, saying that he was taking a holiday in Baden because he believed he had "a Hollywood supervisor" of something of the sort, in his inside, and wanted to put it right.

is making a film called "Wings
over the Jungle."
It will be produced, partly in Kenya and partly at Elstree, and is Dwan's first British film.

"Dance of Witches."

Robert Milton, an American director, who was responsible for
"Outward Bound" and Ann Harding's "Devotion," is to make "Dance of Witches," which strikes the imagination even if you no more about it. This, also, is the first film
he will have made in this country.

"Coup de Vent" ("Gust of Wind"), which Korda will direct himself, is about a man who lives in a Paris lodging-house. He goes out one morning to collect the milk
outside the front door; the door
slams on him and shuts him out.

He has to get a girl in the house to let him in. From that provocative opening the picture streaks on to romance. It sounds very René Clairish to me. Leonard Merick might write a story like that. At all events, a good, intriguing idea.

Three other pictures on the schedule are "Controleur de Wagon Lits," "Branch of Promise," and "Train 847," the last of which has been written by Laos Biro, scenar-ist to London Film Productions.

German Saint Joan.

In October Elizabeth Bergner, the German actress who was "Saint Joan" in the German version of Bernard Shaw's play, will come over to England to appear in two super films which have not yet been given titles.

They will be directed by Paul Szinner, who made that remarkable film "Nju," with Elizabeth Bergner, in 1924, Conrad Veidt and Emil Jannings were also in that picture.

Czinner has always been associated with Elizabeth Bergner in her productions. Years ago they worked together in the Elizabeth Bergner-Poetic Film Company, but I do not know whether that company
still exists.

The informed flangoer will also remember a silent production called "Impetuous Youth" (in the original, "The Violinist of Florence"). That, too, was a Bergner-Szinner production, produced at the Ufa studios.

I think we can expect great things from this combination when it becomes effective in England.
Czinner has already been here. He directed Pola Negri at the Elstree studios once.

I hear, by the way, from Mr.
Korda's company that Oliver Bal-win is to direct a series of short sporting pictures for him. The first of these will deal with cricket,
and is to link up with the coming Test Matches in Australia.

NEW PASSENGER SERVICE

FROM PORTLAND, OREGON

The States Steamship Company announce an improved and faster combination passenger and freight service. Effective with the first sailing from Portland Oregon on December 23, the States Steamship will commence operation of 14-knot combination passenger and refrigerated freight steamers to Hong Kong via Yokohama and Kobe. These vessels will sail every 21 days from Portland calling at Yokohama, Kobe, Hong Kong and Manila, and will return to San Francisco and Portland direct from Hong Kong. Further details and particulars of the new service will be announced shortly.

The vessel are said to be former units of the United Fruit Company's "Great White Fleet" which operates between New York and Central American ports. They are of the cabin class type carrying 94 passengers, and are fully refrigerated.

The vessels will all be renamed and the new names will be announced in due course. The local office of the States Steamship Company estimate that the passage from Portland to Hong Kong via Yokohama and Kobe will take 21 days and from Hong Kong to San Francisco, 18 days.

This new service presumably will be supplemented by the continuation of the regular freighter service from Portland Oregon to Hong Kong, which has been maintained uninterruptedly for the past ten years. With the acquisition of these combination passenger and refrigerated steamers, Portland Oregon will have a freight and passenger service on a par with other Pacific Coast ports, and Hong Kong will have the fastest direct service between this port and San Francisco.

It is estimated that the first vessel of the new fleet will arrive in Hong Kong during the third week in January and will sail on her first homeward voyage to San Francisco and Portland one week later.
